

DIRECT SELF-CONSUMPTION PLANTS GRID INDEPENDENCE

Prosolia has under development several PV direct self-consumption plants throughout Spain and Portugal.

The owners of the rooftops, most of them industrial consumers have direct savings every day, because the energy generated is free across its lifespan.

The owner of the plant reduces the dependence on the big electric companies, diversifying the power consumed origin and achieving an improvement of competitiveness, while reducing the CO<sub>2</sub> footprint.

